(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

General Opinion That a War Will Erupt Between Them.

LONDON, June 26th.—Great importance is attached to Russia's demand upon Turkey for the Russian indemnity by the Cabinets of Europe, especially of Austria. Russia has been as lenient as Turkey has been lax in the payments stipulated at the close of the Russo-Turkish war, and the arrears now amount to a sum which is almost hopeless for Turkey to expect to pay. The Sultan, indeed, has virtually repudiated the obligation, and therefore the payment demand comes with a force all the more startling. As Turkey cannot fulfill the demand, Russia will have to take satisfaction in some other way. The opinion in Vienna is that the way chosen will be a military one. Meanwhile Austria is making strong preparations to uphold her influence in the Balkans in the event of a hostile movement on the part of Russia.

WILL PAY NO TAXES.

The People of Newfoundland Want Better Protection.

HALIFAX, June 26th.—The steamer Harlow, from the west Newfoundland coast, is here, and her Captain (Farquhar) confirms the statement that he was refused permission to land goods at the bay of St. George, unless he would give a bond to be responsible for all the duties and charges which the consignees might fail to pay.

The Captain declined to accede to the demand, and proceeded to Bonaventure Bay, where the goods were landed, the consignees having received the regular permits.

The British man-of-war Pelican was at Bonaventure Bay. The coast is nearly free from ice. The Captain also confirms the report of a conflict between the islanders and the French at Port au Port last week. Several of the contestants received black eyes and numerous bruises. The trouble arose from the French wanting to take bait out of the Newfoundlanders' nets. The people on the west coast are still determined to pay no taxes until they receive better protection.

Big Petition.

LONDON, June 26th.—A huge petition in favor of license purchase was presented in the Commons to-night. It was gotten up by publicans and presented in three immense rolls of paper bearing 600,000 signatures. Sir Wilfrid Lawson created much interest by moving that the Clerk of the House read the petition and verify the signatures. Stanley at Oxford.

LONDON, June 26th.—Stanley and Miss Tennant attended commemoration day exercises at Oxford University to-day, and were given very cordial receptions. The degree of Doctor of Civil Law was conferred upon Stanley and Professor Goodwin of Harvard University.

Conservative Candidate.

LONDON, June 26th.—Mr. Hamilton has sent a telegram to Barrow regretting that O'Brien's attitude compels him to advise the Unionists to support a Conservative candidate.

Armenians and Kurds.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 26th.—A serious conflict is reported between Armenians and Kurds, in which many were killed on both sides.

Rate of Discount Advanced.

LONDON, June 26th.—The Bank of England has advanced its rate of discount from 5 per cent. to 4.

Another Victory.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26th.—Errors made by the home team today gave the Senators another victory. Hanley's two failures to block base hits let in three runs. Young pitched good ball, barring a lack of control, and had the support been better, the score would have been closer. Hoffman was lit hard, but the only time the San Francisco crowd could bunt their way into the sixth and seventh innings. Sacramento played an errorless game, and shut out a number of base hits. The features of the game were Hoffman's batting, and McCall's brilliant work in right field. Stapleton also played a great game at first. Gages umpired a very good game, using good judgment on balls and strikes, and making but one doubtful base decision, which was against the San Francisco. Score:

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

The Sacramentos are now but two games behind the San Franciscos, and if the Senators keep up the pace they have been making of late they have a chance of overtaking the leaders by the end of the week. While H. L. Williams was boring an artesian well for water at Sumnerland, five miles from Santa Barbara, the flow of gas continued to increase after a depth of 300 feet. He has now reached a depth of thirty-three feet, and the pressure is forty pounds to the square inch. On lighting at night the whole neighborhood is illuminated. It is the intention to immediately sink a six-inch pipe, the present one being only three, and pump the whole town with gas for fuel and illuminating purposes.

THIRTY YEARS' PRACTICE.

A Letter from an Eminent Physician.

Mr. Editor: At the risk of incurring a proprietary prejudice, I have a few words to say in favor of a new laxative principle. But first, how I came to discover it. A patient asked about taking J. J.'s Vegetable Laxative, as he was suffering from constipation, and a mercury or iodine was objected, and asked for the formula, which finding purely vegetable, and so mild as to be to my mind almost perfect, I commenced. I imagine my astonishment when perfect laxative action was reported. It has two great points. First, being purely vegetable, it is (unlike mercury) not cumulative in the system, being easily carried off by the digestive process; and second, it is effective with a less quantity of the cathartic principle than has hitherto been attainable. It is in this respect ranks as a discovery, and approaches the ideal, viz: the least medicine consistent with the greatest good. It harmonizes natural laxative action and perfect safety, and should interest both the public and the profession.

LIGHT FOR EVERYBODY.

THE GAS COMPANY'S NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.

It will be in Running Order About the 1st of September—Large and Costly Works.

Since the new intersection electric lights were introduced, a few nights since, Sacramento has been the scene of the best lighting in the State, if not the best. This statement applies to her street system; but when the Capital Gas (and electric) Company gets its new electric plant in operation, Sacramento will have few equals in the Union as regards lighting facilities.

A Union Union reporter yesterday visited the premises of the Capital Gas and Electric Company, and found that the new plant is being erected on the corner of Front and K streets, where the company is now erecting its electric-light station. The company has purchased the entire block surrounding the gas works, with its new works, will occupy a large proportion of the space included within these limits. A large force of men are engaged in the work of erecting the new building. It is 120x150 feet in plan, and will consist of a basement fourteen feet in height and one story above that.

The foundation was most carefully laid. It consists of a solid bed of concrete several feet in depth, the walls being 21 inches thick. The foundation for the larger of the buildings (a Corliss) is of concrete, 22x22 feet at the base, and 16x18 on the top, the latter, of course, reaching the main floor. The foundation for the smaller building is also of concrete, 10x10 feet on the top, and 6 feet wide on the top.

The boiler-house is specially constructed. The large boilers are in three tiers, and are being put in their places at an elevation of 25 feet above the floor of the basement. These are of the Babcock and Wilcox type, known as the tubular boilers, and although generally used in the East, there are few on this coast. There will also be five other tubular boilers, and one of the whole being capable of operating engines furnishing 800 horse-power. The floor of the boiler-house is of concrete, and is carried on steel eye-beams. There will be a roof of corrugated iron over the engine-house, supported by iron pillars.

Five large engines will be required to run the dynamo. The largest will be a vertical triple-expansion engine, now in course of construction by the San Francisco Tool Company. There will be three others of the Armstrong & Sims pattern, and one large Corliss engine. These powerful motors will be capable of furnishing 800 horse-power. Provision has been made for using the river water for condensing purposes.

Adjoining the boiler-house is the smoke-stack, a brick chimney now under way, and which will rise to a height of 150 feet. The foundation of this great shaft of brick consists of 71 feet of solid concrete resting upon 100 piles. The boiler-house is driven close together and cut off below the low-water mark. The base of the chimney is 18 feet square. The inside diameter is 34 feet at the base, and 6 feet at the top. Outside the base will be square, the middle octagonal, and the top finished off in circular shape. The main floor of the boiler-house is of concrete, and will be laid with three-inch plank, making it very solid. The roof will be flat, and will also be constructed of three-inch plank, covered with tar-and-gravel roofing.

Pressed brick will be used in the construction of the front of the boiler-house, when completed, will present a very handsome appearance. An elevated tramway has been constructed from the top of the levee on the river bank to the top of the boiler-house, by which building materials and machinery are carried from the railroad to the works. This will be maintained permanently.

The main floor of the building will be on a level with the ground at the foot of Front and K, and will therefore be above the high-water mark.

George Murray has the contract for all brickwork, and the rest of the labor is being done on the day system, the company employing its own men. James C. Pierson, the company's engineer, is in charge of the plans for the building, and all the work is being done under his supervision and direction.

The work was commenced on the structure in April last, and the company expect to have it completed by the 1st of next September, when it will be ready to receive gas from the main line. The plant is being done under his supervision and direction. The company has now on hand six hundred tons of coal, and expects to receive twenty. When these shall be in operation the company will also be ready to introduce the independent system for lighting stores, residences and other buildings. The cost of the new improvements is estimated at about $50,000.

Yesterday the company's latest work of dismantling all the street lamps in the city, as it is not at all likely that the municipality will ever again be able to afford the cost of gas for street-lighting. Still, the lamps can be allowed to remain, and the pumps can be replaced should it ever become necessary.

As an evidence of the growth of the city, the officers of the company state that the demand for gas has been steadily increasing, despite the introduction of electricity. Even now the company is putting in additional gas works, and recently received fifty new ones from the East; also, 1,500 large blocks of tile from Jersey City, N. J., to be used in setting up the retorts. When the increased demand for gas is ready for introduction—which will be as soon as the new electric station is completed—there may be a great demand for a time, a decreased demand for gas, but as the city grows the company intends to be prepared to meet the demand, whether strictly (or both) to all that may demand them.

TOO MANY DEEDS.

The Question as to the Ownership of the Brison Ranch Property.

An answer has been filed in the Superior Court by W. P. Harlow to the complaint of W. E. Warnock, who sued Harlow and A. P. Catlin, rival claimants to the Brison ranch, near Rutter's Station, to determine the question as to which of them was entitled to $1,140 rental for the place. Warnock rented from Harlow, who placed a deed to the property from Mrs. Brison, but the Court ordered the latter to deed the property to her husband within ten days after the decision was rendered. Warnock, in the suit against his wife for the property. If she failed to execute the deed the County Clerk was to make the deed for her.

After this judgment in his favor Brison deeded the ranch to A. P. Catlin, and both the deed and Harlow sought to collect the rent due from Warnock, who brought suit as stated above.

In his answer Harlow alleges that the time allowed for Mrs. Brison to make the deed was extended to and including the 31 day of January, 1889; that on this date defendant's counsel rendered and served upon plaintiff's counsel a statement on motion for a new trial, and that said motion was pending and undetermined in the Court when W. E. Hamilton, County Clerk, made and delivered to W. W. Brison a deed to the property in dispute. It is claimed that the deed was not recorded, was fully stayed by the pendency of the motion for a new trial, that the deed was made without any consideration whatsoever, and that it therefore void and of no effect.

Harlow further alleges that at the time he leased the land to Warnock he was the owner of it, and that he had been so for many years. He therefore prays that the deed made by Hamilton be declared null and void, and that he be allowed judgment for the sum due on the lease.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY.

The Governor Issues His Promised Proclamation.

Governor Waterman yesterday issued the following proclamation declaring September 8 a legal holiday:

To the People of the State of California: California will celebrate with fitting ceremonies the fortieth anniversary of her admission into the sisterhood of States. Looking back to the time when in the splendor of her youth she assumed the robes of statehood and through the years of fierce internecine war when she remained steadfast to the Union, and when she had pledged her loyalty, we may now also see the present joyous in her progress and pledge anew the vows of patriotism that have never been broken. As California, one and indivisible, has been among the bravest and noblest of States, and as California, not divided into North or South, but as an Empire State, as she was built by her founders, her progress cannot be stayed.

It is becoming that this year those who have been born on the soil of California and those who have made the Golden State their home should lay aside the cares of business to commemorate the anniversary of her admission. By common consent the year 1850 has been

DROWNED WHILE BATHING.

WILLIAM M. HOUSE MEETS HIS DEATH IN THE RIVER.

He is Seized With a Cramp and Becomes Helpless—A Companion Has a Narrow Escape.

William H. House, a printer, was drowned in the Sacramento river, half a mile above the bridge, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had gone up the river on the Yolo side, in company with Thomas H. Needham and Clyde Appleby, for the purpose of going in bathing. Mr. Needham says that after they had been in the water some time and were about to come out Mr. House was taken with a cramp, or strangling fit, and sank.

Needham was close by at the time, and as soon as his companion came to the surface he caught hold of his arm and attempted to get him to the shore, but the drowning man grasped him with a vice-like grip and both were carried under the water. After a struggle Needham succeeded in freeing himself and came to the surface, but House did not rise again.

Appleby started at once for assistance, and secured grapping irons at the police station. In the mean time a fisherman came along and dragged the body of the drowned man, and afterwards with a salmon-net, but without results. The body was finally recovered with the grapping irons at 8 o'clock last evening. It was brought to the bridge and turned over to the coroner of Yolo county. Thence it was taken to the residence of Mrs. Hembree, 721 1/2 street, where the young man had boarded, and then to the undertaking rooms of Reeves & Long.

Needham was about 24 years of age, a son of H. L. House, who lived in this city many years, and was employed as a printer in the office and in the State Printing Office. He is now residing at another place at Rodondo Beach, Los Angeles county. A sister of deceased resided on San Bernardino street, and all the relatives were notified of the death by telegraph last night.

The unfortunate young man was the second of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and two letters were found in his clothing, one from Mrs. Farnsworth, relative to the funds of the order. He was a member of the standing army of Sacramento Typographical Union, No. 46.

SUDDEN DEATH.

John Platt Fatally Stricken by a Paralytic Attack.

John Platt, an old and greatly esteemed citizen of this city, died very suddenly about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon of apoplexy. Only a few moments before his death, P. E. Platt, met him at the corner of Ninth and J streets, at which time he was in good spirits, and feeling as well as he had for a long while, though his health had been poor for a year or more. After ten minutes' conversation the father and son separated, the former going down Ninth street toward K. On the way he stopped in the shoe shop of J. H. H. and complained of feeling faint. He sank into a seat, and it was at once seen that something serious was troubling him. Help was summoned, and Dr. Laine was quickly at his side. Nothing could be done for him, however, as he was then unconscious, and in a few moments passed away without a struggle or apparent pain.

Mr. Platt had a host of friends, and this news will be sad and interesting to them. For many years he was outside guardian of the various Lodges of the Order of Odd Fellows in this city. Always genial and pleasant to all with whom he came in contact, he made a friend of every man he met. He was one of the best-known Odd Fellows in the State, having been elected to the high office of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of California, and also to the high office of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of California, and also to the high office of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of California.

SHOT BY A FOUNDRYMAN.

The Molders' Strike Results in a Fatal Street Affray.

EDW. COOGAN SHOT BY J. W. KERR.

Conflicting Accounts of the Affair—Kerr Justifies His Act—The Other Side of the Story.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26th.—Edward Coogan, an apprentice iron molder employed at the Vulcan Foundry, No. 2, was shot and almost instantly killed this morning by James W. Kerr, of the firm of Steiger & Kerr, proprietors of the Occidental Foundry, at 157 First street. Coogan was 21 years of age and lived at 29 1/2 First street with his father and mother and three brothers. The shooting occurred in front of the Occidental Foundry. There are two sides of the story, that of the manufacturers and that of the molders. The former state that Kerr acted entirely on the defensive, while the latter claim that Kerr's action was a cold-blooded murder.

C. J. Clausen, who was with Kerr at the time of the homicide, is a local iron-molder. When the strike was inaugurated he refused to join the ranks of the union men and quit work. He worked at the Union Iron Works and remained in their employ until the day before yesterday. Then he was transferred to the Occidental Foundry. He lives with his family at No. 29 1/2 First street, and was always known as a sober, industrious sort of a fellow. On account of his father the union men did not molest him for a time. After a while, however, they learned that he was not in the strike, and they began to molest him. He refused to join them and they threatened to kill him. He claimed that the molders had dictated the wages that should be paid, had named the number of men to be employed, and had made other limitations for the purpose of gaining a public sympathy for their strike.

The words were hardly out of his mouth when from the doorway on both sides of the street a mob of men jumped out and immediately surrounded the molder and his family. One man from behind him pulled out a revolver and fired at him. He immediately drew his pistol and fired at the man who had taken aim at him. The shot was fired at Coogan's head. He did not die immediately, but he was killed in a few minutes. He was taken to the Occidental Foundry, where he was attended by Dr. J. W. Kerr, who was the physician on duty at the time. He died at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Kerr entered the office with Clausen and Mr. Steiger, Jr., and went to the police station for an officer, stating that a shooting had taken place. Officer Marne and Officer Green, who were on duty, were dispatched to the foundry.

Mr. Kerr was in the office, and said to one of the policemen: "I have shot a man and wish to deliver myself up."

He was taken to the city prison and booked for murder. Mr. C. J. Darwin was at once sent for and he instructed the prisoner to have nothing to say which might injure the cause of the strike. He declined absolutely to talk to reporters. He was not taken to the police station, but remained in the hospital department of the prison, where there received a constant stream of visitors and friends.

The deceased was a very good looking boy, and quiet and well behaved. He was well liked by his employers, and his wages were well paid. He was a native of the Occidental Foundry, No. 2, said the boy was a first-class workman, and had always been good and well behaved.

According to the side of the story told by the manufacturers, Coogan was coming to work, and he was walking quickly along First street on his way to work. Coogan was not a striking molder. He was an apprentice and employed by the Vulcan Foundry, which was not in the strike.

Mr. Hopkins, a former police officer, employed as a bartender in the Occidental Foundry, at First and Market streets, was also present. He was a witness to the shooting. He said that he saw Coogan being shot. He said that he saw Coogan being shot. He said that he saw Coogan being shot.

STATEMENT OF MR. KERR.

Mr. Kerr has refused to make any personal statement of the homicide to reporters, but he has written a statement to the Record-Union. "I arrived at the foundry shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, and by appointment met Clausen at the corner of First and Market streets. "We started to walk toward the foundry, when Clausen remarked: 'There is no crowd to meet us this morning.' When suddenly from twelve to fifteen strikers came from the street, where they had been concealed, and grabbed Clausen and began to beat him. "I looked on in amazement, and when I saw Clausen being beaten, I went forward and tried to help him. I was then surrounded by the strikers, and they began to beat me. I was then surrounded by the strikers, and they began to beat me. I was then surrounded by the strikers, and they began to beat me.

From the manner in which they met me, it is my opinion that the attack was premeditated. I was then surrounded by the strikers, and they began to beat me. I was then surrounded by the strikers, and they began to beat me. I was then surrounded by the strikers, and they began to beat me.

The molders in twelve of the largest foundries in the city, to the number of 48, quit work and let the shops. The molders formulated an account of the strike, in which they stated that the cause of the strike was the molder's demand for a reduction of wages. On account of his father the union men did not molest him for a time.

He claimed that the molders had dictated the wages that should be paid, had named the number of men to be employed, and had made other limitations for the purpose of gaining a public sympathy for their strike.

A good deal of recrimination resulted from the words of the molder, who was kept up for some time. The expectation of the molders that the foundry men would eventually yield to their demands was somewhat shaken by the advent of the molder, who was kept up for some time.

He claimed that the molders had dictated the wages that should be paid, had named the number of men to be employed, and had made other limitations for the purpose of gaining a public sympathy for their strike.
